

Protect your baby from Whooping Cough

Your children can get whooping cough – and so can you. You can give it to your child. Whooping cough can make young children very sick, particularly new babies. The best way to protect your baby is to make sure that everyone’s vaccinations are up to date – adults and children. Talk to a health care provider.